

Why we're here today ...

- ~ Feel comfortable discussing end of life issues
- ~ Explain or define terms related to ACP
- ~ Offer guidance in using advance directive forms
- ~ Offer guidance in "having the conversation"
- ~ Provide resources for further information
- ~ Adhere to the schedule for the community session

On a scale of 0-10, how comfortable are you now in discussing end of life issues?

0 = very comfortable

10 = don't even want to think about it

Is your comfort level the same when talking with...

- someone close to you about his/her end of life?
- your hospice client about his/her end of life?
- someone close to you about your end of life?

Five Consumer Segments

Worried Action Takers 10%

Younger, diverse, most educated. Nearly half identified as having a disability.

Highest trust and regard for the health care system. ~80% have been a caregiver for an incapacitated loved one.

Self-Assured Action Takers 24%

Oldest by far, most likely to be white and least likely to be lowincome.

Confident about managing their health and navigating the health care system with fewer worries about a future serious illness.

Disengaged Worriers 34%

Youngest, most diverse, lowest education and income; poorest health and health care navigation and management skills.

Seen loved one's wishes not honored. Many worries about their health and future serious illness.

Confident Independents 18%

Older (mostly 45+), average education and racial composition. Fewer experiences with dying loved ones. Confident about managing their health and navigating the health care system with fewer worries about a future serious illness.

Self-Reliant Skeptics

Middle-aged, lower income and education.

Lowest trust of doctors and regard for the health care system. Poorer health care selfmanagement and skills.

If it is very important, do you need support with this wish?

If yes, how can we help?

Conversation Starters

How do I begin the conversation?

- ... how you want us to treat you when you reach the end of your life?
- ... who should make decisions for you if you can't tell us what you want?
- ... telling someone about how you want to be treated if you become unable to tell us?
- ... how you want to be treated if you were to suddenly become incapacitated?
- ... what you want done with your belongings if you're unable to tell us?

Conversation Starters

What is an example of a "starter question"?

I have a pamphlet with me called 'Five Wishes'. You can use it to make it clear about how you want to be treated if you become unable to express your wishes for medical treatments and for comfort. May I show it to you now?

Whenever we go into the hospital for treatment we are asked, 'Do you have an Advance Directive?' An advance directive tells your caregivers how you want to be treated if you can't tell them yourself. May I help you prepare an advance directive today?

Sometimes, when we reach the end of life, we aren't able to share our wishes about how we want to be cared for. But we can make those wishes known ahead of time. May I help you write down your wishes?

I notice you don't have an advance directive. There are two really good reasons for having one: first, it gives you control by letting your caregivers and family know how you want to be treated at the end of life; and second, it relieves your family of having to make tough decisions when they don't know or don't agree about what you want. May I help you get started with an easy-to-use advance directive called 'Five Wishes'?

Conversation Starters

What could I say if the person I am trying to start the conversation with indicates disinterest, or comes right out and says "I don't want to talk about it?"

I know it's hard to talk about it. Your caregivers want to know what matters to you. I have a list of questions that would help us care for you the way you want to be cared for when you are near end of life. Next time we visit could we take a look at those questions together?

If we know your wishes, we can work hard to make it happen for you; also, if your family knows what you want, it will be so much easier for them when the time comes. I can help you put your wishes in writing for them

"Prompts for Preferences"

A list to help the caregiver learn what matters to you at the end of life

If you were in bed and unable to tell us how to make you comfortable ...

- How would you describe an ideal way to start your day?
- What sounds do you find peaceful?
- Are there any sounds that are disturbing to you?
- What food brings you comfort?
- What foods do you dislike?
- What kind of music do you like?
- Do you enjoy having some time alone?
- Do you like having a lot of people bustling around you?
- What keeps you awake when you are trying to fall asleep?
- What pictures would you like to be able to see?
- What brings comfort to you when you hold it?
- Do you like your feet tucked in under the covers?
- Do you want a phone or a tablet nearby?
- Do you like to be read to?
- Would you like someone to write down things that you want to say to someone?

- Do you want to be near a window?
- Do you like background noise, like a television playing softly?
- Do you want religious books or icons near you?
- Do you want to hear a funny joke or story from time to time?
- Do you want caregivers to hold your hand sometimes?
- Do you like your feet rubbed? Your hands? Your back?
- Do you enjoy having your hair brushed? Your scalp massaged?
- Do you want the lights on all the time?
- Would you enjoy a visit from a therapy dog or a cat?
- Do you want your door kept open? Closed?
- What helps you fall asleep?

What is ...

Advance Care Planning

A plan that puts you in control by letting your wishes be known if you become unable to communicate

- 1) How you want to be treated when you reach the end of your life, and after your death
- 2) Who should make healthcare decisions for you
- 3) How you want to be remembered
- 4) Who should handle your money
- 5) How you want your possessions to be distributed after your death

Advance Directive

A legal written document that includes at least:

- 1) How you want to be treated when you reach the end of your life
- 2) Who should make healthcare decisions for you if you are unable to communicate

May also include how you want to be remembered May also include your wishes about the care of your body after death

Does not address your money or your property

Five Wishes: https://www.fivewishes.org

Maine Health Care Advance Directive: : https://www.mainehealth.org/care-services/hospital-medicine-inpatient-care/advance-directives-l-advance-care-planning

What is ...

Healthcare Power of Attorney

The person you have chosen and named in your advance directive to make healthcare decisions for you if you can not communicate

Also called: healthcare proxy, healthcare agent, medical power of attorney

Five Wishes calls this person a "healthcare agent"

Maine Advance Care Directive calls this person a "medical decision maker"

A healthcare power of attorney does not address your finances or your assets

A "healthcare power of attorney" is not the same as a "power of attorney"

A "power of attorney" is a "financial power of attorney" and is not related to healthcare

To avoid confusion, it may be best not to use the term "attorney" when referring to healthcare

What is ...

Financial Power of Attorney

Part of "Advanced Care Planning" but NOT part of an "Advance Directive"

Someone who is legally authorized to act on your behalf with some or all of your assets such as bank accounts, income taxes, investments, real estate; you choose what power s/he has

You can choose to have your power of attorney be in effect only while you remain mentally capable (a general power of attorney); or remain in effect when you are incapacitated (a durable power of attorney)

You can terminate the authority of your financial power of attorney any time

The financial power of attorney cannot transfer power to another person

Power of all powers of attorney (healthcare power of attorney and financial power of attorney) end at the time of your death; the financial power of attorney does not manage your assets after your death

What is ...

Living will

The part of an ADVANCE DIRECTIVE that identifies how you want to be treated if you are unable to communicate your needs and wishes

The word "will" (or "last will and testament") refers to a legal document addressing assets and is not related to healthcare

To avoid confusion, it may be best to use the words "part of the advance directive"

Last Will and Testament

A legal document addressing distribution of your assets after your death; not related to healthcare

Names a personal representative (executor) to carry out the terms of your will; names beneficiary(s)

Must go through the probate process before your assets can be distributed; in Maine a judge is usually not involved unless there are irregularities or there is disagreement between heirs or involving creditors

ADVANCE CARE PLANNING ... how you want to live

Planning that PUTS YOU IN CONTROL

by letting your wishes be known if you become unable to communicate

- How you want to be treated when you reach the end of your life
- Who should make healthcare decisions for you if you can't make them yourself
- How you want to be remembered
- Who should handle your money if you are unable
- How you want your possessions to be distributed after your death

Pine Tree Hospice www.pinetreehospice.org

An ADVANCE DIRECTIVE is a legal document that includes:

- How you want to be treated if you cannot communicate your wishes ... sometimes called a "living will"
- Healthcare power of attorney (also called healthcare proxy, healthcare agent) ... is the person you name to make healthcare decisions for you if you cannot communicate; Power ends at your death
- May include how you want to be remembered; may include care of your body after death

Financial power of attorney: is the person you name to handle some or all of your assets if you are unable; s/he does not make healthcare decisions for you

You decide how much power s/he has You decide when the power takes effect Power ends at your death

> Last will and testament: is a legal document that includes:

The person you name to be your personal representative (executor) to handle your possessions after your death

How you want your possessions to be distributed; names your beneficiary(s)

What is ...

Financial Trust

A legal document granting ownership of your property to another person or institution, managed by a trustee, and which does not go through the probate process

Can be revocable or irrevocable

Beneficiary

A person you designate to receive money or property after your death

Any beneficiary(s) designated on a financial account trumps the will

Without a lawyer you can make a legally binding list of personal property indicating what goes to whom, as long as that property is not titled; your list must be handwritten in ink, signed, dated, and paper-clipped to your will

Property Title

Names the owner(s) of an asset; disposition is controlled by a will and goes through probate

There are different types of joint titles:

- 1) The entire asset may belong to the joint partner at the time of your death
- 2) You determine the beneficiary of your half of the asset (tenants in common)

What is ...

Legacy

A written communication to others about your feelings and/or thoughts and/or knowledge and experiences

Sometimes called an "ethical will"; to avoid confusion, it may be best to use the word "legacy"

Life Sustaining Treatments

Medical interventions to maintain life, including: mechanical ventilation, renal dialysis, and nutritional support via tube feeding or intravenous infusion

Life sustaining medical interventions are usually uncomfortable, may cause complications, are expensive, may be distressing to loved ones; and may be ineffective in prolonging meaningful life for someone with a life-limiting illness

Do Not Resuscitate (DNR) and Allow Natural Death (AND) orders

A medical order to prevent interventions to restore breathing and heartbeat after they have stopped

The DNR or AND order is signed by a licensed healthcare provider (medical doctor, certified nurse practitioner, physician's assistant)

An advance directive form may provide space for a DNR request, but it can not legally be honored unless there is a separate DNR or AND order

What is ...

Portable Medical Order (POLST = Physician Orders for Life-Sustaining Treatment)

A portable medical order intended for seriously ill or frail individuals nearing end of life which provides direction for medical treatment, including resuscitation

The POLST form accompanies the individual when transporting to/from locations such as extended care to/from acute care facility

A POLST is not an advance directive: it does not name a healthcare proxy and it does not address the individual's wishes for care

What is ...

Alternative Funerals

You have choices about the disposition of your body after death

Burial

Under ground in a cemetery or in a family cemetery

In a green cemetery with no embalming

Cremation

Direct in a crematorium with no embalming

Alkaline hydrolysis

Organ or full body donation

Costs vary from $0 to under $1000 to more than $10,000

No matter where your body goes, you can have a funeral, memorial service or celebration of life gathering

Death with Dignity Act

Provides eligible Maine residents who have a terminal illness and a probable death within 6 months, the option to be prescribed a dose of medication that, if self administered, will hasten the end of their life

Requires the participation of a Maine licensed physician

The signed request can be rescinded at any time

What is ...

The "Red Book"

A list and documentation of important information for others to have in the event of your incapacitation or after your death, which would otherwise be very difficult for them to find

Keep the list updated and easily accessible to a trusted person

- Location of advance directive and will
- Password list: phone, tablet, computer, email, social media, etc
- Your social security number
- Location of cash and of bank account information for paying bills
- List of current outstanding debts
- Location of financial account(s) information
- List and location of valuables
- Location of keys: house, car, safe deposit box, etc
- Location of insurance policies: life, vehicle, funeral, etc.
- Location of vehicle titles, deeds to property, etc.
- List of meaningful items to be given away to specific people
- List of items or papers that you want disposed of
- Special instructions for pets
- **????

PS... the book is meant to be READ but it does not have to be RED!

Folks in our community will feel comfortable enough to be able to tell others what matters to them when they reach end of life.

By the end of the session, community participants will:

- 1. Begin to feel comfortable thinking about and discussing end of life issues
- 2. Understand the difference between an advance directive and a will (last will and testament)
- 3. Understand the difference between a healthcare power of attorney (also called medical power of attorney or healthcare proxy) and a financial power of attorney
- 4. Be prepared to complete the 5 Wishes advance directive form
- 5. With at least one other person, practice "starting the conversation" using the Pine Tree Hospice "Prompts for Preference List"
- 6. Understand that advance care wishes can be changed any time
- 7. Begin a list of important information for others such as your passwords, financial information, location of advance directive, location of will, etc.
- 8. Know about choices: various advance directive forms, life sustaining treatments, do not resuscitate orders, long term care resources, alternative funeral arrangements
- 9. Know where to find more information about living at the end of life issues

Share with the community

How do we make that happen???

For the community gathering

Handouts for attendees (the same packet you have now):

- 1) Outcomes; Agenda; How to Reach Us
- 2) Some Definitions and Some Web Links
- Five Wishes Advance Directive Form
- 4) Prompts for Preferences List
- 5) List of Important Information for the "Red Book"
- 6) Evaluation form

Activities:

- ~ Introductions; explanation of information in packet of handouts
- ~ Random questions about advance care planning, divided by topic, will be addressed
- ~ Each attendee will have about 15" to begin to fill in the Five Wishes advance directive form
- ~ With another person, each attendee will have about a half hour to practice starting the conversation with the "Prompts for Preferences" list
- ~ Peruse resource table
- ~ Distribute answers to all discussion questions at end of gathering

Basket Questions for the community gathering

Random Question / Answer format

- Engages participants comfortably
-  Eases presentation for leaders
- Provides continuity for community gatherings
- * All questions will not be addressed, but all answers will be distributed at end

Questions are divided into 4 topics:

Advance Directive questions are coded blue
Finance and Asset questions are coded green
Funeral Arrangement questions are coded yellow
Conversation questions are coded pink

Adherence to schedule is important

- * Distributes attention to topics appropriately
 For example, time allotted to financial issues is limited to 15 minutes
- Within topic's time allotment, leaders are free to be engaging For example, soliciting questions, providing examples, sharing anecdotes, clarifying confusion, offering suggestions for finding further information

Planning now for later

Some tips for the community gathering

Watch the clock

- ★ Keep the promise... start and end on time
- * Stick to the schedule... address topics as planned

- 🕸 It's OK if you can not answer someone's question ... we're not supposed to know everything!
- * "I don't know, but I'll find out and let you know (tell them how)_____"

are fine answers

- * or "I don't know but you can find that information (tell them where)______"
- Write down the question... maybe it should be included as part of the presentation next time

Engage attendees

- Make gentle, brief eye contact with each one
- Notice if someone appears uncomfortable... approach them at break time or afterwards
- Offer the basket to folks who don't volunteer (but only once ☺)
- * Circulate, offer guidance, during practice sessions

Where do we go from here???

- * You can choose to work alone or with another facilitator
- * PTH will coordinate with you to establish a date, time and place for your community gathering
- * Facilitator will need to pick up from the PTH office:
 - 1) Basket with laminated questions, divided by topic
 - 2) Packets of handouts for the participants
 - 3) Answers to basket questions to be given to participants at the end
 - 4) Copies of the Five Wishes Advance Directive form
 - 5) Pencils for participants
 - 6) Box of items for the resource table
 - 7) Refreshments
- * Facilitator will need to return to the PTH office: basket with questions, box of resource table items, extra copies of the handouts, and the evaluations
